

Email 12

----- Original Message -----

From: "Thomas E Caywood" <caywood@uwplatt.edu>

To: "Sabina Burton" <burtons@uwplatt.edu>

Sent: Tuesday, February 12, 2013 11:17:42 AM

Subject: Re: PACCE Projects

Part 3

OK, forms are in your mail box.

----- Original Message ----- From: "Sabina Burton" To: "Thomas E Caywood"

Sent: Tuesday, February 12, 2013 9:52:54 AM Subject:

Re: PACCE Projects No additional time. Projects are integrated into both classes.

Students get group time 20-30 mins each week or each other week (as needed) and connect outside the classroom via group forum on D2L. Part of the project work is homework.

These are not huge projects but allow students to do some investigative work and learn about cold cases/human trafficking.

I also have 2 seniors who volunteered to assist with the projects. Thank you.

Part 2

----- Original Message ----- From: "Thomas E Caywood"

To: "Sabina Burton"

Sent: Tuesday, February 12, 2013 9:43:49 AM Subject:

Re: PACCE Projects

I've reviewed your proposals. It looks like students are doing research for the community partner Steve Moore. There are 86 students in both sections of police function, with 4 in a group that equals 21-22 groups or 10 to 11 for each section. You have 66 students in both sections of women and the law. 16-17 total groups with 4 per group. That's 37 - 39 groups you will be overseeing. Looks like most of the information will be obtained outside the classroom unless classes are in a computer lab. How much additional time outside the classroom will you need to devote to all three projects? Currently you already are teaching a 3 credit overload class, you have 1 intern to supervise as well as 1 graduate seminar paper to oversee, as well as preparing for the study abroad class. How will you manage all of these activities? My concerns you are doing to much. Tom ----- Original Message ----- From: "Sabina Burton" To: "Thomas E Caywood" Sent: Tuesday, February 12, 2013 8:17:13 AM Subject: Fwd: PACCE Projects Tom, Attached my 3 PACCE projects for this semester. I requested one I-Pad 3 for each Cold Cases and Human Trafficking. If approved after the project the I-pads will belong to the CJ department. The third project is for Restorative Justice. I have 2 students working in a directed study with me. I will leave 3 signature pages in your mailbox. If you choose to approve I will turn them in this afternoon. Thank you. Sabina OK

Part 1