Dear Dr. Burton:

As I had indicated earlier this week, I received student reports, which I double-checked, that you had cancelled class and that you were absent without permission. However, it appears now that those student reports conflict with other student reports. As a result, I withdraw my admonition to you regarding cancelling class. Your 12/16/14 evening email to students, however, was unprofessional, inappropriate, and contained a number of factually inaccurate statements.
