Subject: Student Compliments

Dear Sabina,

I hope this finds you well and that your semester is going well. When I ran into you the other week, I was able to tell you briefly about a couple of compliments I heard about you when I attended the Chancellor's Scholars dinner a few weeks ago. I wanted to flesh those out a little.

Both Mitchel Burkholder and Tyler Stephens are students of yours (and I believe both are advisees as well). Mitch is a first year student and he is already blown away by your helpfulness and advising expertise. He thinks you're "awesome." And Tyler, a sophomore, is in your Women and the Law class, and he spent quite a bit of time telling me, in detail, about the many important topics you're covering and how much he is being challenged and provoked (in a good way) by your wonderful teaching.

I couldn't be more pleased to hear about your successes. Thank you for all that you are doing for our students.

All the best,
Liz Throop
