Hi Joe,

I know that the three searches Solar chaired failed. All three of them. I wasn't allowed to serve on either one of them. Now these faculty positions have been canceled. We may get to do two academic staff searches instead. We're doing "great" as a department.

Regarding the chair search. Something interesting happened. Even though it appeared to be a sure thing (Zauche let it slip one day) that it was Dalecki's to lose, we may get a new female chair, Staci Strobl. Interesting. I wonder it is because of my official complaint filed with the EEOC.

You mentioned faculty and students asking about me? I find that surprising as Dalecki has worked hard to isolate me in the department. The last I know is that Solar wasn't truthful with me and Deb Rice called me mentally ill at the CJA dinner and said another time that I wouldn't be around much longer. Stackman also has distanced herself from me even though she really got the job because I reached out to her. Who asked about me if I may ask?

I am glad I don't have to be at work. I can't physically handle the backstabbing right now. I do miss you and Sheri though :)

Sabina

Good Afternoon Sabina,

Thank you for the response and sharing of information. I hope and pray that you are feeling better and that all things that were bothering you no longer disturb your health. Some people here have express interest in knowing where and how you are, and some students and faculty continue to feel you are an asset to the program. I have heard little or nothing about any of the searches. With the budget cuts by the governor, filling positions will be difficult. The department is supposed to have a meeting this week. I can only guess that we may find something out at that time. Take care of yourself and remember, when you are smiling the whole world is a little brighter. Here is a smile for you :o)

Have a good day and a wonderful and blessed week.

Joe
